

1. Create a structure named employee having members: empName, age and salary. Use this structure to read the name, age and salary of the 5 employees and write entered information to a file employee.txt in D:\ drive.
2. Write a program to copy content from employee.txt. File to newemployee.txt file.
3. WAP to add new employee details in newemployee.txt file.
4. Write a program in C to read integers from the user until the user says "no". After reading the data write all the odd numbers to a file named odd.txt and all the even numbers to file even.txt.